Planned Parenthood College Program

BY MURRAY COHEN

Overpopulation may be closer than we think. In only 30 years, if present rates continue, the world will have to provide for a population of more than seven billion — double today's 3.6 billion. At the same time, many of earth's vital resources, the very stuff on which life depends, are shrinking daily.

We still have time to solve the problem of over-population. The only intelligent, humane solution is voluntary family planning. Family planning, alone, can't solve all the world's problems. It can't wipe out poverty or hunger or pollution. But it can buy us the time so that planning and technology can catch up with our population.

Planned Parenthood Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania, located at 1402 Spruce Street, has instituted a program service to colleges in development of family planning, birth control information and population education for students, a first in this area, according to Mr. Allen M. Johnson, president of the association. Mr. Davidson B. Mont, a graduate of Temple University's Social Welfare Program will head plans for college services and will coordinate requests for college programming.

In most cases, colleges do not provide adequate education about birth control, abortion and sex related topics. College students, deprived of such information from college health services and counselors have been demanding family planning services elsewhere. Planned Parenthood, the leading voluntary agency in family planning pioneered in services to colleges after a survey during the school year 1969-70, making their clinics and counseling known through a student outreach program and public information.

It is expected that the greatest effort in the new program will be toward encouragement of college health services, to add birth control consultation to existing medical services. This would insure continuity of service and provide students with better overall health protection.

Currently, there eight clinics with a total of twenty sessions in the association's three county area include college youth as Planned Parenthood clients, making available their medical and nursing staffs of twenty-nine physicians and nurses and the social workers. A pregnancy test clinic was organized last August — the first such service available.

Girls 19 and over no longer need parental permission for clinic services, a policy adopted after passage of an act in the State of Pennsylvania which Governor Shafer signed last February that gave minors freedom for making certain decisions. Any minor that has graduated from high school, has married, has been pregnant or is over 18 may consult to medical, dental and health services for herself or himself without the consult of any other person.

For those below the age of 19 who seek contraceptive service or advice on related matters, counseling is available by a social worker.

Overpopulation.
It's your problem, too.

The program for colleges is to be developed with four long range objectives and with the assistance of an advisory committee of Planned Parenthood consultants, Board and staff, together with college faculty and student representatives. Two college students serve on the Planned Parenthood Board of Directors for close coordination and cooperative understanding.

Four long range objectives are: to improve the quality and accessibility of family planning services for students; to provide help and service to administrators and faculty in curriculum planning and counseling in all areas of human sexuality, and stimulate an awareness in the college community of the population problem; to work to make family planning an ongoing part of the educational process for every student, stressing the small family as each individual's responsibility in working towards solutions to population problems, and to develop campus leadership and man power for family planning and population education.

Lectures, debates, symposiums, plays, exhibits and other forms of educational and cultural activity are a part of the program to give the college student an awareness of resources in family planning and understanding of the link between overpopulation and other environmental problems. The program will provide a point of interaction with the student/youth culture and provide leadership to organize badly needed vital services. Planned Parenthood locally has accepted the challenge set forth in the Alameda-San Francisco agency's June 1970 college prospectus: "If voluntary population control is to come about through a new social morality, through social acceptance of the small family concept, then college student, who will be educated opinion leaders of the future, are an important group to reach."

Planned Parenthood is a voluntary agency. Planned Parenthood Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania 1402 Spruce Street Phila., Pa. 19102 KI 6-8888

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Please help me with my grandmother, she has spent a few years in Dachau and has some really wild misconceptions. She believes Rabbi Novoseller, the head of the JDL is Himmler and the membership are storm troopers. She will not believe me they are just a group of good Jewish boys.

Bruce K.

Dear Bruce:

There is no proof or evidence to establish the identities of the membership of Rabbi Novoseller, but we suspect they are simply a group of fascist fanatics.

PAP FOR THE MASSES

Across the nation there has been a rash of new community colleges espousing a revamped system of education for the masses. In the past the masses were told a high school diploma was adequate, while the rich would assume their place in the best of schools and universities. Yet as America changed and the masses gave way to a growing middle class there became a need for more schools. Urban universities grew, yet not fast enough. Plus now the government feared discontent amongst the masses of low and low middle income groups and needed a method to indoctrinate the restless minds of the children of the poor. Thus we see here at CCP the same formula education, pap for the masses.

The main form of expression of education for the masses is terminal education. Curriculum which culminates in two years, with no further opportunity for advancement. These students are usually tracked into local industry to fill the gap left by technical advances. Glance through your school catalogue and note well the abundance of terminal courses such as library technician, inhalation therapy, medical records, secretarial science, etc..

Take a good look at many of your courses. Do they stimulate clear, logical and original thought or induce a liberal self-perpetuating ego trip? English courses are usually substandard shams fostering idealism without mentioning the discipline necessary to express it. Humanities in condensed version to avoid overtaxing the minds of the masses. The entire liberal arts is pap for the masses in its aberrated form of general studies. Socially and culturally the community college provides pap for the mass consumption in hopes to dull the minds of young who might change the system. CCP can be changed but it takes cooperation between students and the few enlightened faculty. Why not try?

RIZZO FOR MAYOR: Or Rizzo the Stooge

Mayor Tate has always screwed things up by his petty prejudices. Awhile back he felt too important to deal with the trashmen so he stayed in Florida till it was all over. Now he finds himself in the same situation. The party machine he once held such great control over now has left him standing alone. What does Tate do for revenge, he makes a public nomination for the next Mayor, Rizzo. The Democratic machine wants no part of Rizzo the "good cop". How could they control him? Besides, what does Rizzo know about being Mayor? The city is in bad fiscal shape now but with Rizzo anything could happen.

Poor old Rizzo, the nice old cop, sucked into the dirty politics of big city life. Will he make that bid for power, and possibly take on Tate's problems and carry out Tate's revenge, or stay the nice cop? The primary will soon tell.

The Bicentennial and You

As a student in a community college that long awaited new permanent site for the college will wait for the bicentennial and a left over building. Even though the Mayor has eight million dollars committed to a new site he has for the last few years used it for other things, such as a new stadium or more money for the police.

As a citizen of the inner-city the federal government has limited the use of federal funds and they cannot be used for the rehabilitation of neighborhoods. This insures the wasting of the money of the carnival atmosphere of the bicentennial.

The Agriculture Department has admitted that up to one quarter of the poultry samples tested in 1968 and 1969 contained "excessive residues" of arsenic.

The officials hastily add that the arsenic is "organic". Now that people know that organic food is good for you, the Department hopes we don't mind ingesting organic poison. Murder-mystery arsenic is of the "inorganic" type, officials say, and is a lot more toxic than organic arsenic. Just how toxic organic arsenic is, however, they don't say.

Early in March the crew of the MONDCIVITANO (World Citizen) will load their vessel with pictures drawn and painted by American children and then set sail to present their cargo to the children of Cuba.

Sensuous Woman Lavender Vision/Lns

BOSTON (LNS) — Sex is an institution. In an oppressive society like America, it reflects the same ideology as other major institutions. It is goal-oriented, profit and productivity oriented. It is a prescribed system, with a series of correct and building activities aimed toward the production of a single goal: climax.

I'm a lesbian. A lot of people can't figure out "what we do", how we make love without a penis around for the final consummation. Sex as an institution is so totally tied up with the penis and its goal that men assume there must be some poor substitute for their noble item.

For me, coming out meant an end to sex. It's dead and gone in my life. I reject that institution totally. Sex means oppression, it means exploitation. It serves the needs of men. It has little to do with pleasure for the greatest mass of oppressed people: women.

Physical contact and feelings have taken a new form: sensuality. The women's movement in general, especially at the beginning, and gay feminism now is a fantastically sensual experience for me. I love my body and the bodies of my sisters. Physically it is now a creative non-institutionalized experience. It is touching and rubbing and cuddling and fondness. It is holding and rocking and kissing and licking. It's only goal is closeness and pleasure. It does not exist for the Big Orgasm. It exists for feeling nice. Our sensuality may or may not include genital experience, that may or may not be the beginning or the ending of the experience.

To make good love with women, I don't want to have to "produce" anything. Except pleasure. And that can be at any level or in any form. The sensuality I feel has transformed my politics, has solved the contradiction between my mind and my body because the energies for our feminist revolution are the same as the energies of our love for women.

When we feel good about someone we may sleep together. That could mean a lot of things from hugs to climax to cuddling to being very close by not touching. We are free to act without pressure. I refuse to feel like I must make a decision about whether to "put out" or not. There is no such thing as putting out among us. There is no set goal to our sexuality.

The whole language is oppressive. It is white male-oriented and heterosexual. One word that must go is "sex" because that describes a way of being physical that can only draw up very bad memories for a lot of us. We must use it only in referring to that oppressive institution, not to any new forms we are developing. Having sex means accepting a set of criteria for "success" that we did not set up and develop among ourselves.

Sperm is coin. And that whole system of exchange necessarily excludes us as lesbians. We can't pretend that those few flaps of skin that make up the masculine apparatus are just a few objective ectodermal gatherings. That stuff is the proof of a right to have access to privilege. Some men reject that privilege, but they always have the possibility of whipping it out in an emergency and asserting their privilege.

We are building a revolution which isn't based on privilege. And we must have a new language and aesthetic to describe it. Lesbianism is not a sexual perversion: it has nothing to do with sex. It is not another way to "do it": It is a whole other way to have contact.

Heterosexuality and lesbianism are two forms of physical contact. But that's as far as the similarity goes. Sensuality is formless and amorphous. It can grow and expand as we feel it. It is shared by everyone involved. Sex with men was like doing alienated labor as that one with power could make good profit off my surplus labor. Sensuality with women is a collective experience growing out of our struggle.

Radical lesbian sensuality is a form which I myself am helping create. It is not an institution existing outside of me, like sex is. It is me, us, as it comes out of our new consciousness.

THE ROYAL TOILET

By PAUL BLONDIN

The Communicator, an instrument of truth and knowledge, has always felt that an informed student body is a strong student body. To this end, we try to present a variety of informative articles. Since knowledge knows no limits the range of our articles must be limitless.

Therefore, to broaden your inner horizons, we present the following article as the beginning of an exciting new dimension in learning.

The Royal toilet (standing type found in men's rooms) is an outstanding feature of Community College rest rooms. Attached to the tiled bathroom wall about one and one half foot above the floor, this vertical, rectangular "bowl" is an unquestioned part of the population.

Glistening white porcelain and shiny stainless steel fixtures make the Royal toilet look worthy of its name. Finger tips movement of the flush handle make it a joy to operate. Guaranteed for the life of the unit, a recoil spring returns the handle to its original position everytime you pull on it.

At the bottom of the bowl are sixteen scientifically placed drainage holes to allow the efficient removal of urine. Flushing the yellow liquid away with an abundant supply of Philadelphia water, released in its cleansing blow by the flush handle.

This flushing system is a vast improvement over the previous ULL-EM and CARRY-EM SYSTEM used at C.C.P. in earlier years. This old method involved the use of buckets removed and emptied at regular intervals. Both systems, though, have serious drawback. Neither one can insure 100 percent gathering of urine expelled by the human body. This results in what the designers of the men's rooms have termed "misdirection accumulations" or "puddles." Since either of these systems has failed to relieve this only serious flaw, it is hoped that a petition campaign recently initiated by some concerned students will force the administration to install absorbent rubber mats under the Royals.

A wonderful convenience, the Royal toilet is truly designed to meet the needs of today's student. The Communicator hopes the reader may now, in some new way, appreciate this fine appliance.

Peace Movement Rejects Charges Against Berrigan Brothers and Davidson

The following statement was issued by an emergency meeting of peace leaders and activists which took place Thursday, January 14, at the Friends Institute, 20 South 12th Street, Philadelphia.

"Several people have been charged with conspiracy to blow up the heating systems of government buildings in Washington and to kidnap Henry Kissinger. Among those charged are Philip Berrigan and Daniel Berrigan; William Davidson has been named as co-conspirator.

"We regard the indictments as a most serious and purposeful attack on the entire resistance to the Vietnam War, intended to silence all peace-loving people in the United States.

"We know these men and believe that the plans alleged in the indictments are inconsistent with the philosophy of action which the accused have followed. We believe that they would not be involved in any project which bring suffering or death to any of their fellow-men.

"That the Berrigans joined with others in destroying draft card files is

REVENGE OF THE VAGABONDS

By SWAMI

Last week at the Community College of Oz, located in Oz Pennsylvania, the entire student body Winkies, Blinkies, Nods went on strike. The action taken by the students was in protest of a proclamation issued by the college's president Tick-Tock that ordered the immediate removal of some 100 ("vagabond and hobo types") from the lobby of the college.

Leader of the student protest Maximo M Minimo told this reporter in an exclusive statement that student sentiment for the student vagabonds was very high and that he personally thought the president's action was unjust for in a recent book "Oz for less than $5 a day" Minimo cited that although unlisted CC of Oz was cheaper than "Ozo's Flophouse Paradise."

An irate spokesman for the Vagabonds Scott Umbutu (whose name is being held by request) stated that everything looked very strange the Vagabonds who for the past couple of years or so, resided in the lobby eating Zonkers and drinking "Dorothy's Amazing cure-all and Elixer" without any disturbance.

After much hostilities and picketing of the college building by the Vagabonds the Wizard of Cozbo finally intervened. The Wizard reversed Tick-Tock's proclamation and ordered that the college immediately start the building of an Annex complex for the undisturbed residency of the Vagabonds. The decisions of the Wizard were deemed by all members of the party "who have been just for all."

a publicly acknowledged fact. For this violation of law they are presently serving prison terms. Their reason for that act was to challenge the ethical basis of a law which punishes one man for burning paper while applauding another for burning people."

The statement was signed by: Sister Anne Boniface; Helen M. Carroll (Women's International League for Peace and Freedom); and Friends Peace Committee; Nancy Callary (A Quaker Action Group); Judith Chomsky (Resistance); Jim Dugan; Jim Estes (American Friends Service Committee); Sarah Fahy (Catholic Peace Fellowship); Father David Gracie (Episcopal Diocese); Joan Hubbard (Health & Welfare Council); Jaap van Liere; John P. Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

It is said that there is a time and a place for everything. However, I cannot see what time or what place could possibly be indicated for personal character assassinations. The current editor (Tom Martin) of the school's newspaper and selected members of his staff have embarked upon for selfish and political motives a relentless pursuit of a diabolical diatribe aimed at destroying all of the accomplishments of your Student Union. The Student Union has achieved a high level of influence upon the faculty, administration, city officials and as of the present, state officials.

Your Student Union has always been working for you. Back in the Spring of 1970 it was the Student Union who gained full participation for students on the various standing committees. It was the Student Union who removed an unjust penalty of $10.00 for an "I" grade. It was the Student Union who through the courts persuaded the faculty to come back to work in September (after 1st walkout). It was the Student Union who collected and pursued public pressure to end the recent six week strike.

Why then Tom Martin, are you trying to ruin the excellent work of the Student Union and personally attack its leadership?

To use your own words, Tom Martin, "Who's kidding whom."
